Comments of the Chief Electoral Officer on the Forty-first Provincial General Election

“By failing to prepare, you are preparing to fail.”

- Benjamin Franklin

As we continue the process of cleaning up from the October 21 provincial general election, I cannot help but reflect on the preparation and effort put in by our team to deliver an election that would provide every eligible elector in the province with the opportunity to cast a ballot and have their say in the election of the next government of New Brunswick.

The above quote from Benjamin Franklin is wise counsel that has survived down through the centuries and captures the approach we took in getting ready for this election. Our core staff of 22 employees¹ spent countless days, weeks and months preparing and planning for the October provincial general election.

I think it would be fair to say that we prepared for this election not just once, but twice. We cannot forget the summer and fall of 2023, when rumours were circulating about the possibility of an early election call.

¹This figure includes 19 full-time staff and three term employees in the Political Financing Unit.

Chief Electoral Officer Kimberly A. Poffenroth signs the 49 writs of election commencing the provincial general election held on October 21, 2024.

Did everything go perfectly and exactly as we planned? Absolutely not. In the end, however, over 376,000 citizens took the time during the 32-day election campaign to vote by visiting a returning office, taking advantage of the two days of advance voting, or going to their local polling station on Election Day.

We set an election readiness date of June 2024, well in advance of the scheduled October election. Meetings were held early in 2023 to map out tasks and timelines for staff to achieve in order to meet that target. Needless to say, those detailed plans went out the window when the first rumblings surfaced about a possible early election call.

When speculation of the early election call was finally put to rest in early November 2023, we had positioned ourselves to run the election if it had been called; however, the preparatory work did not stop there.

With no guarantee that we would not find ourselves back in the same position in the spring of 2024, we continued with our preparations. Provincial returning officers and election clerks, who had received three days of condensed training in September 2023, were brought back to Fredericton in March 2024 for additional training. The March 2024 training sessions covered areas that were not sufficiently covered, if at all, during the October 2023 sessions. This second set of training sessions included essential hands-on training with the election management software that is an important part of returning officers' and election clerks' day-to-day work. With the election to be conducted under new ridings, the returning officers also met individually with our senior GIS specialist to finalize the polling divisions that would report to each polling station. The technical support officers from each riding were also brought to Fredericton in early April to receive hands-on training on the equipment they would be responsible for setting up, operating and troubleshooting during the election.

While we were conducting this training, our team was also busy planning for ten local government by-elections that were scheduled for May 6, 2024. While managing by-elections are on a much smaller scale than the looming provincial general election, virtually all of the same tasks are required to be planned and executed over a seven-week period.

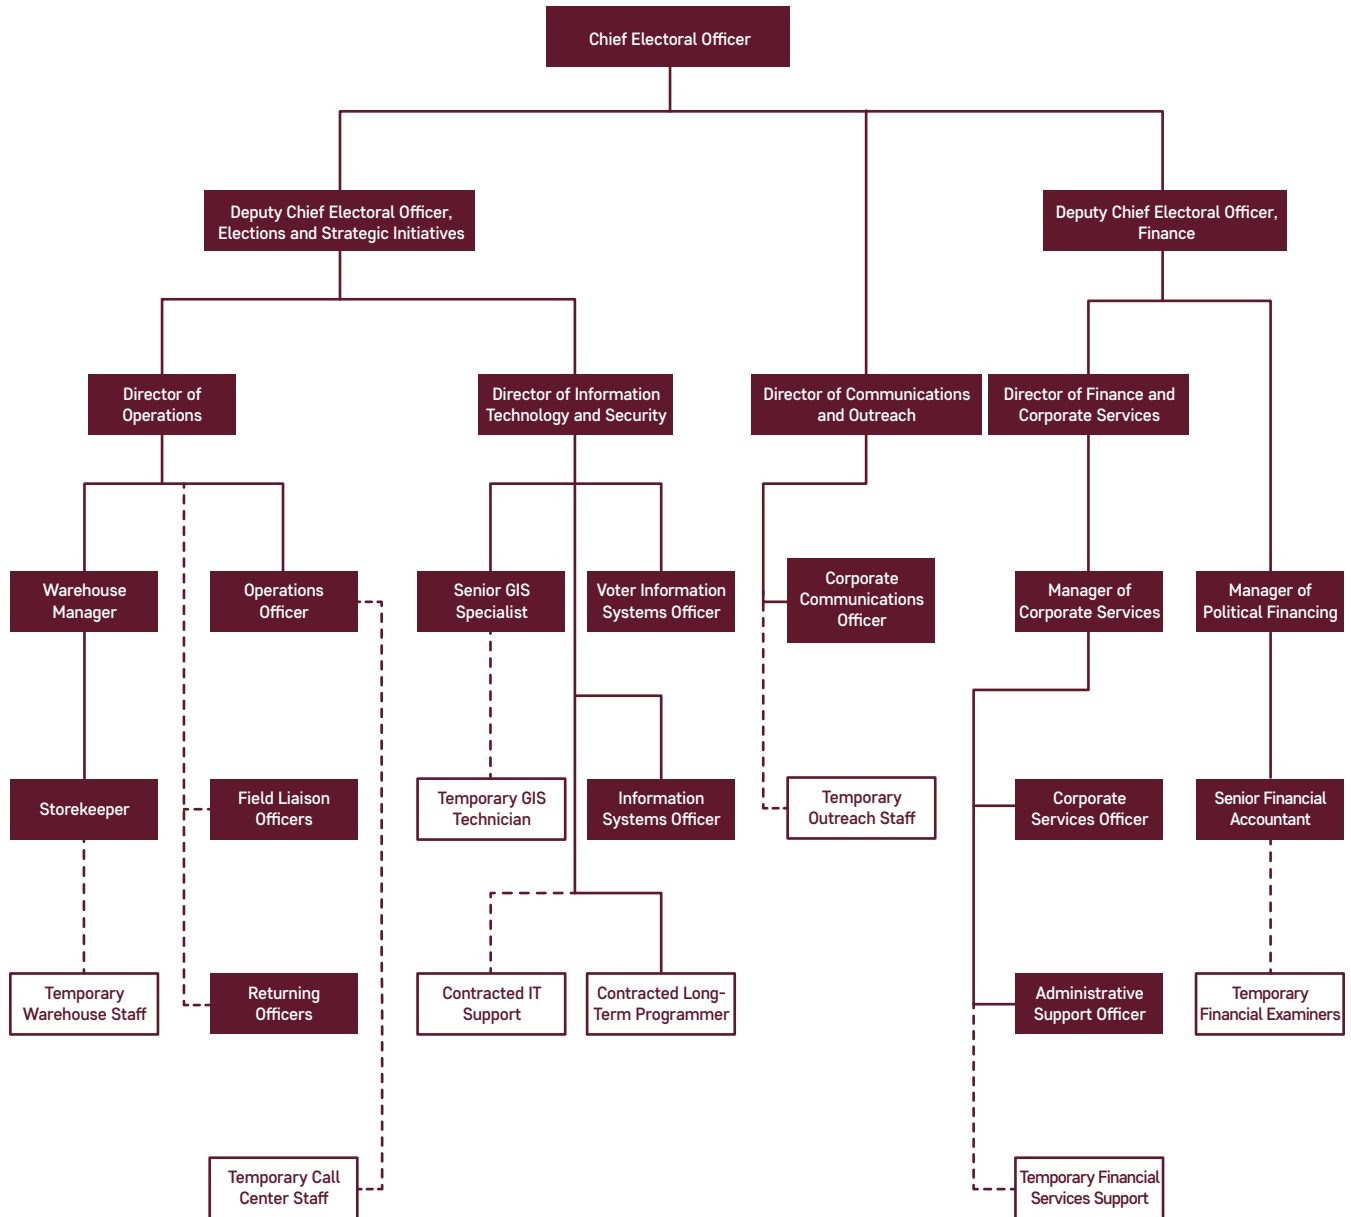

The post-election report which follows is an overview of our activities leading up to, during and following the 32-day election campaign. While the bulk of the attention during an election deservedly goes to the candidates and the political parties, I hope this report offers readers a greater sense of the detailed planning that goes into every election well before the first ballot is cast and the work that continues after the outcome of the election is known.

The pressures faced by the staff of Elections New Brunswick while preparing for the prospect of having to deliver an unscheduled provincial general election a year earlier, and the professionalism, skill, and collegiality with which they met and overcame each challenge, only elevates the pride I have in our team.

Post-Election Report

Issue of the Writs

The 60th Legislature was dissolved on September 19, 2024, and Writs of Election were issued for 49 electoral districts ordering a general election to be held on Monday, October 21, 2024, and made returnable on Friday, November 1, 2024. Following the official declarations on October 25, 2024, no judicial recounts were requested.

Candidates and Registered Political Parties

At the close of nominations on Tuesday, October 1, 2024, 207 candidates had officially filed nomination papers. Two individuals intending to run for the Social Justice Party of New Brunswick had deficiencies in their nomination papers, and the returning officers in those electoral districts were unable to accept their nomination papers.

The New Brunswick New Democratic Party candidate running in the electoral district of Saint John Portland-Simonds withdrew as a candidate on October 10, 2024. As ballots had already been printed prior to the candidate's withdrawal, in accordance with section 54 of the Elections Act, notices were placed inside the voting screens at all polling stations in the electoral district advising of the withdrawal and ballot issuing officers were required to advise electors of the withdrawal. The same notice was placed inside the voting screens in each returning office as an elector may vote for their electoral district at any returning office in the province. Despite this notice, 162 ballots were marked in favour for the former candidate. These votes are considered null and void under subsection 54(1) of the Elections Act.

As of Election Day, both the Progressive Conservative Party of New Brunswick and the Liberal Party of New Brunswick had candidates in all 49 electoral districts. The Parti Vert N.B. Green Party had 46 candidates; the New Brunswick New Democratic Party had 22 remaining candidates; the Libertarian Party of New Brunswick had 18 candidates; the People's Alliance of New Brunswick had 13 candidates; the Consensus NB Party had three candidates; the Social Justice Party of New Brunswick had two candidates; and there were four independent candidates.

This election saw eight registered political parties run candidates, the largest number of parties in recent memory. Three new parties emerged with the registration of the Libertarian Party of New Brunswick, the Consensus NB Party, and the Social Justice Party of New Brunswick. Section 140 of the Elections Act requires the Chief Electoral Officer to cancel the registration of a registered political party if the party did not present candidates in at least ten electoral districts or whose number of candidates fell below ten before the ordinary day of polling. The Chief Electoral Officer has cancelled the registrations of both the Consensus NB Party and the Social Justice Party of New Brunswick.

Elections 101

To assist registered political parties in preparing for the provincial general election, Elections New Brunswick organized a one-day training session on April 24, 2024. This session served as a refresher on various aspects of provincial elections, including the requirements for financial reporting and election advertising, the process for becoming a candidate, voting procedures, and results reporting. The event included in-person and virtual participants.

Polls and Voting

Electors in the 49 electoral districts were grouped into 1,753 polling divisions across New Brunswick. In addition to the write-in ballots used at returning offices, 684,800 ballots were printed following the close of nominations and distributed to the returning offices for use by electors.

A total of 571 polling stations were opened across the province for the election. For the two days of advance voting on October 12 and October 15, 189 polling stations were opened, and 382 ordinary polling stations opened on Election Day, October 21. In addition, 50 returning offices were opened, permitting electors to vote six days a week from September 19 through October 21.

The voting trend in the election saw many electors continue to take advantage of early voting opportunities at returning offices and advance polls. However, there was a noticeable decrease in the number of electors who took advantage of early voting opportunities in comparison to the 2020 provincial general election, held during the pandemic, when voters were encouraged to vote early to improve voting safety. In 2020, 196,602 electors voted by special ballot and at advance polls. In 2024, 156,924 electors voted by special ballot and at advance polls.

In all, 376,054 electors voted in the election, for an overall voter turnout of 64.82%. This compares to 376,903 electors in the 2020 provincial general election representing an overall voter turnout of 66.14%.

voted by special ballot throughout the election period compared to 64,999 special ballot votes in 2020.

Special ballot voting in 2024 included:

- 6,783 electors who voted for their electoral district by special ballot at a returning office in another electoral district;
- 2,050 electors who voted at additional polls held on post-secondary campuses.

110,964

voted at 189 advance polling stations, on October 12 and October 15, compared to 131,603 in 2020.

219,130

voted at 382 ordinary polling stations on Election Day, October 21, compared to 180,301 in 2020.

Post-Election Survey

Over 370,000 electors cast a ballot during this election. That is a lot of people for whom Elections New Brunswick is responsible for educating on key information related to available voting opportunities, the voting eligibility requirements, and how to have their names added to the list of electors. While Elections New Brunswick does receive feedback - both good and bad - during the event through its call centre, by email, and from comments posted on its social media channels, it is important that it ask New Brunswickers more formally about their voting experience and specifically how they think it performed in delivering the election to them.

Elections New Brunswick commissioned a marketing firm to conduct a post-election survey in the days immediately following Election Day. Just over 500 residents were contacted, half by phone and the other half through an online survey.

Respondents were very positive in rating their overall voting experience. The number of respondents who indicated they were "satisfied" or "very satisfied" with their overall voting experience increased from 88% in 2018 to 93% in this election. Another 96% indicated that they were "satisfied" or "very satisfied" with services provided by election workers they encountered, and 95% of respondents indicated Elections New Brunswick provided them with enough information to know when and where to vote.

Subset: Respondents that voted (n=377). Don't know/no answer responses have been removed.

When asked if they considered Elections New Brunswick a trusted source of information, 89% of respondents who voted said yes, while 64% of respondents who did not vote in the election indicated yes, resulting in an overall average of 83%. This represents a six-percentage point decrease from the survey following the 2018 provincial general election but is still viewed as a very positive rating.

The company commissioned to conduct the survey notes that challenges to election outcomes and negative public discourse about foreign interference in elections could be factors that influenced the slippage. Another factor could also have been the fact this survey included more non-voters, who may be less likely to consider Elections New Brunswick a trusted source of information.

The survey findings will help to inform Elections New Brunswick as it reviews procedures as part of a process of continuous improvement.

Elections NB – A Trusted Source of Information

Political Financing

Our Political Financing unit was invited to deliver presentations to party representatives on election campaign financing rules at campaign colleges hosted by two of the registered political parties. The team also responded to countless inquiries before, during, and after the election campaign from campaign officials from all eight registered political parties.

Transparency in Election Commitments

This was the second provincial general election to be held under the Transparency in Election Commitments Act. The Act requires all registered political parties to file disclosure statements related to the election commitments made by the party and its leader.

The Transparency in Election Commitments Act only applies during scheduled general elections. The parties are required to file disclosure statements with the Supervisor of Political Financing for every election commitment made. The disclosure statements are examined to ensure they comply with the requirements of the Act and are posted on the Elections New Brunswick website.

In total, 371 disclosure statements related to election commitments were filed by the registered political parties:

The Libertarian Party of New Brunswick, the Social Justice Party of New Brunswick, and the Consensus NB Party did not file any disclosure statements with Elections New Brunswick.

Third-party advertising

During this election, twenty individuals, corporations, and groups registered as third parties under the Political Process Financing Act. A "third party" is an individual, corporation, or group – other than a registered political party, registered district association, or candidate – that engages in election advertising during the campaign period. The chief financial officer for a registered third party has 90 days after polling day to file an advertising expenditure report with the Supervisor of Political Financing.

As part of Elections New Brunswick's ongoing efforts to share relevant information and resources with participants in the political process, its Deputy Chief Electoral Officer, Finance, attended a summit organized by the New Brunswick Federation of Labour. At the summit, he provided an overview of the rules applicable to third-party election advertising, including spending limits on third-party election advertising and financial reporting requirements following the election.

Returning Officer Recruitment Process

This was the first provincial general election in which Elections New Brunswick was responsible for the recruitment and appointment of the 49 provincial returning officers. A legislative change in March 2022 transferred that responsibility from the Executive Council to the Chief Electoral Officer. Using an online portal, a recruitment campaign was launched in mid-June 2023 with a closing date of mid-September 2023. The merit-based process required candidates to answer basic skill-testing questions and to record on-camera responses to questions included as part of the screening process. Candidates who met the screening criteria were then scheduled for a virtual interview with members of a three-person evaluation committee. The committee evaluated each candidate and submitted recommendations to the Chief Electoral Officer for final approval.

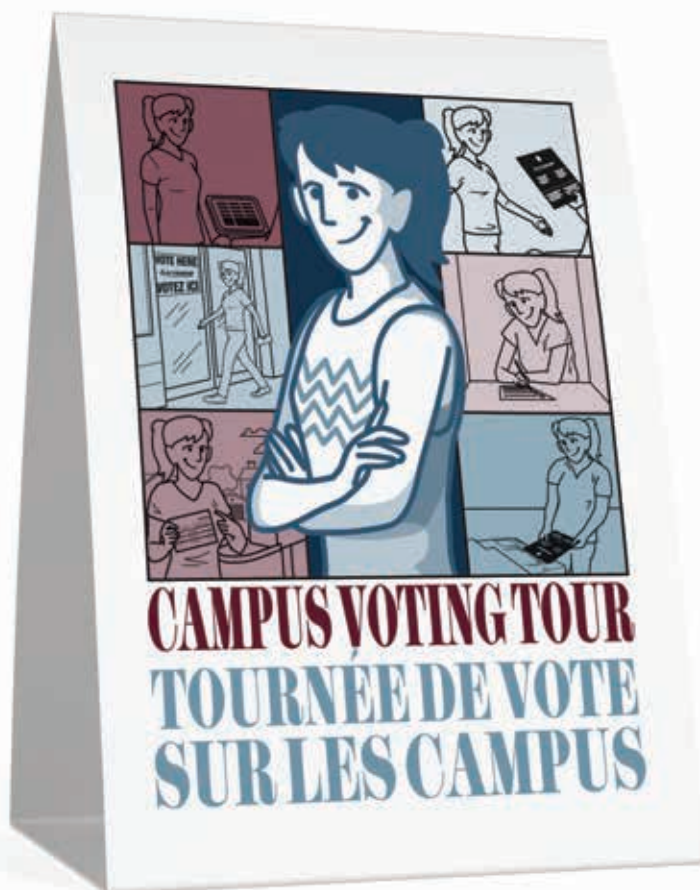

Due to speculation of an early election call in fall 2023, the returning officers appointed for each electoral district, as well as their election clerks, were brought to Fredericton and provided with condensed training in October 2023. The returning officers were told to stand down in early November when talk about a possible snap election was finally shut down by then-Premier Blaine Higgs.

In 2024, as Elections New Brunswick moved forward with election preparations for October, three of the returning officers originally recruited resigned from their positions. With no time to restart the formal recruitment process, replacements were approached by Elections New Brunswick and asked to step into the role. All of the returning officers were brought back to Fredericton in March 2024 for refresher training, which included subject areas not covered during their first round of training and hands-on training with various election management software.

Campus Voting

This election, Elections New Brunswick was proud to make its return to 14 university and community college campuses across the province to deliver a “campus vote program”. Because of Covid-19, the unscheduled 2020 provincial general election prevented Elections New Brunswick from providing post-secondary students with this convenient voting opportunity.

Working with a local graphics designer, Elections New Brunswick’s communications team developed a marketing campaign to promote the campus voting program. This included the creation of tent cards and posters “Tailored” to a younger audience.

Small grants were also provided to the student councils at each campus to hire students who would act as campus ambassadors. The campus ambassadors were tasked with blanketing their respective campuses with the promotional material and answering basic questions students might have about the qualifications to vote and getting added to the list of electors.

In the end, a total of 2,050 ballots were cast at the additional polls on campuses across the province. The number was down from the 3,433 cast in the 2018 provincial general election, but the campus program was also reduced to four days because Thanksgiving Day fell during the election period.

Call Centre

Prior to the election, electors on the voter registry were sent a postcard-sized mailer. The mailer contained information about the electors who were identified in the voter registry as living at each address. Recipients were encouraged to review the information and to contact Elections New Brunswick with any updates that were required.

Elections New Brunswick established a temporary call centre to make updates to the lists of electors as well as to answer questions from the public to ensure they had the correct information needed to vote.

The 11-person call centre managed over 8,500 telephone calls. The largest number of these calls (42%) were from electors confirming or updating voter information for themselves or a relative or notifying Elections New Brunswick that an individual no longer resided at that particular address. A substantial number of calls (22%) were from individuals seeking information on how to be added to the list of electors for the first time. A summary of the calls received is provided below.

These inquiries were over and above the hundreds of emails and social media questions that were responded to by our office, and the calls and emails responded to by the individual returning offices.

New Electoral Districts & Boundaries

This was the first election to be conducted under new electoral boundaries recommended in March 2023 by an independent Electoral Boundaries and Representation Commission. This created significant work for Elections New Brunswick's Senior GIS Specialist, who worked with the 49 returning officers redesigning polling divisions and clusters within the 49 new electoral districts. That process was made even more daunting with the speculation in the fall of 2023 that the election could be called a year ahead of schedule. The boundary changes found many electors voting in new ridings with new names and, in many cases, new candidates. While there was not a groundswell of protest, a handful of electors contacted Elections New Brunswick looking for an explanation, and in some instances demanding that it restore the boundaries to the way they were. It was explained that Elections New Brunswick does not have the authority to do that.

Election Promotion and Advertising

Among Elections New Brunswick's goals in preparing for this election was raising awareness that the election was taking place in October (a change from previously scheduled September elections) and educating the public on the opportunities available for eligible electors to vote. A further, and just as important goal was to drive home the message that Elections New Brunswick is New Brunswickers' trusted source for election information.

With those objectives top-of-mind, Elections New Brunswick's communications team worked with different designers and marketing firms to create a robust and diverse campaign that would reach New Brunswickers through multiple media channels, including print, digital media, social media, radio ads, movie theatres ads, libraries and newspapers.

Digital Media Campaign

To support Elections New Brunswick's message of being the trusted source for election information, Elections New Brunswick embarked on a project to develop a suite of videos to educate people on its processes for administering New Brunswick's elections and to shine a light on the measures in place to uphold the integrity of those elections. A Miramichi-based design company worked with Elections New Brunswick to create five videos used as part of an educational, prebunking campaign which were widely circulated using a variety of platforms.

We also repurposed a campaign originally launched during the 2018 provincial election to reinforce the importance of fact-checking election-related items posted to social media platforms.

Both campaigns were in addition to the traditional “Get Out the Vote” messaging on radio, television, newspapers, and Elections New Brunswick’s social media platforms.

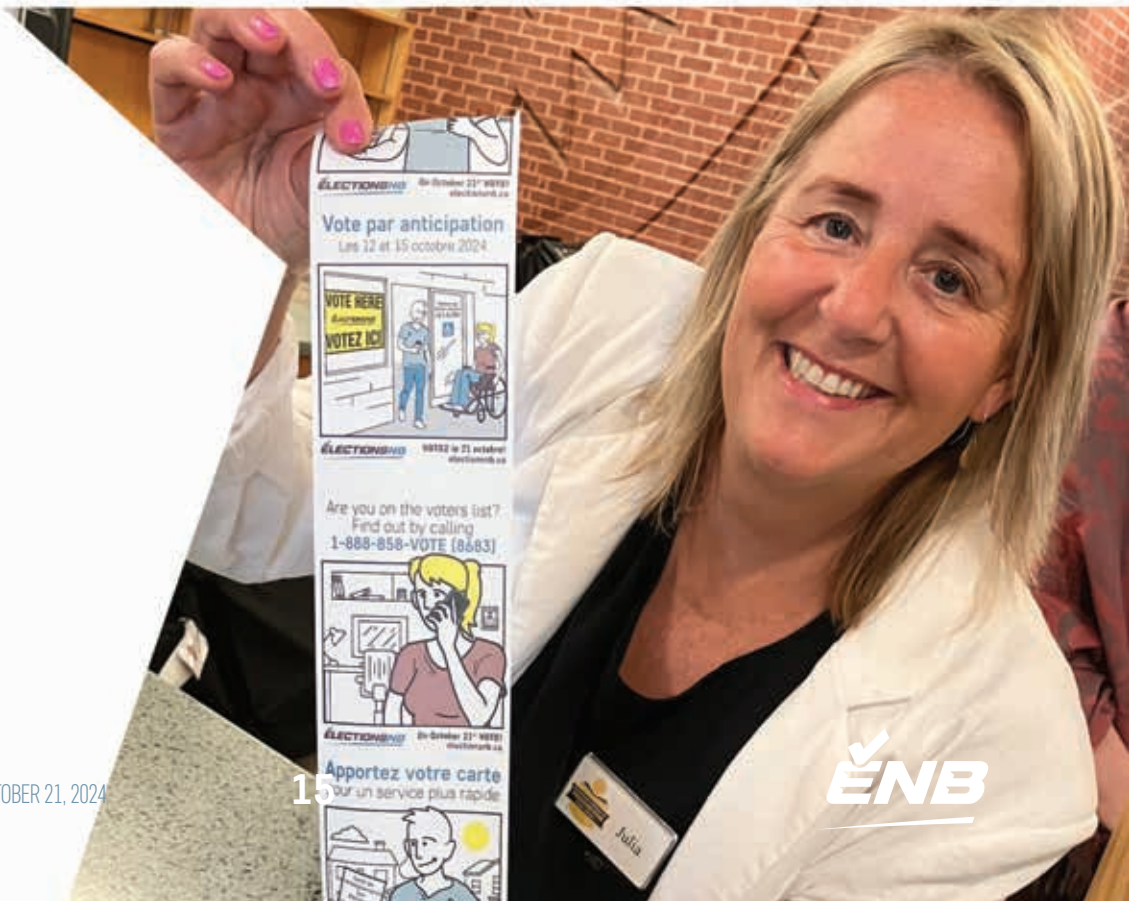

Based on the analytics provided as part of a post-election report, the digital educational campaign outperformed all industry benchmarks for an effective campaign. Based on the click-through rates (CTR) and the view-through rates (VTR) (the rate at which people watched the videos to completion), the campaign appears to have had its desired impact.

Digital Campaign

Campaign	Impressions	Clicks	CTR	VTR	Benchmark
Facebook	2,541,685	72,731	2.86%	/	0.90% CTR
YouTube	1,976,406	926	/	11.96%	10% VTR
Snapchat	355,930	6,293	1.76%	/	1% CTR
Connected TV	250,204	/	/	95.66%	250,000 views

Library Till Tape

Part of Elections New Brunswick’s promotional efforts for this election included a return to provincial libraries. The campaign included key messages about the election printed on the receipts given to library customers when they checked out items from the library. The campaign ran for the four months leading up to the election, with the till tapes being used at 63 libraries across the province. Elections New Brunswick sent additional rolls of the till tapes to the libraries and bookstores on several of the university campuses where it would be setting up campus voting stations during the election.

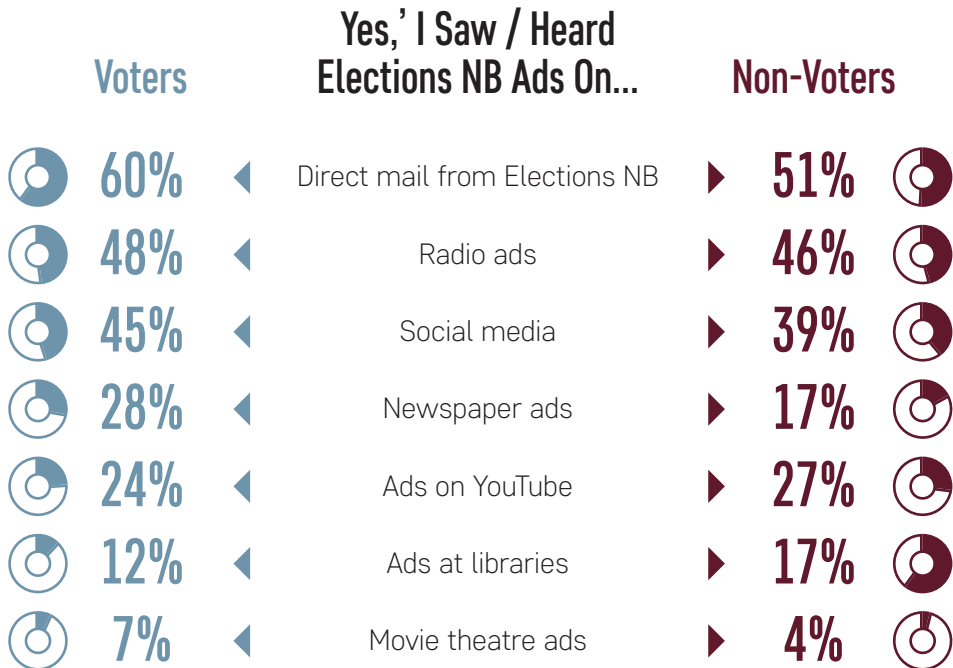

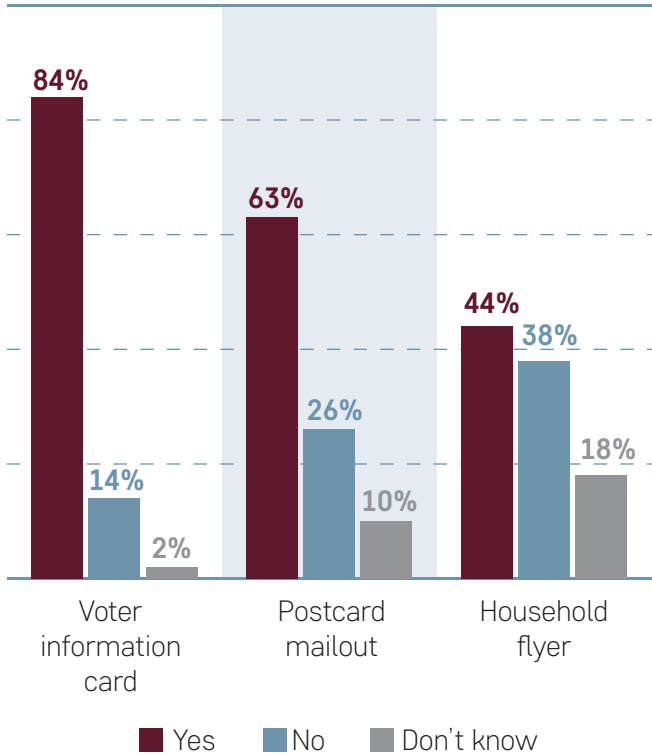

Movie Theatres

To broaden the reach of its pre-election educational videos, Elections New Brunswick ran one of the videos at movie theatres in the province. It also used the big screen to promote the two days of advance voting and Election Day voting. In total, during the 28-day campaign, Elections New Brunswick reached an audience of over 72,000 movie goers at Cineplex theatres, as well as additional audiences in smaller independently-owned movie theatres and at the drive-in theatre in Sussex.

Post-Election Survey

In the post-election survey Elections New Brunswick commissioned, respondents were asked to recall what Elections New Brunswick advertising they saw and on what platforms. By far, the direct mail products with important election-related information were identified as the most-remembered advertising. Not surprisingly, voter information cards, containing personalized details about where people were eligible to vote, were the Elections New Brunswick product voters most often recalled having seen or heard, with 84% of respondents who voted in the election reporting that they recalled seeing the cards.

Voters

High School Students

Visitors to some polling stations were greeted by the smiling faces of young, enthusiastic, and energetic high school students recruited by returning officers from their local high schools. A program supported by the Department of Education and Early Childhood Development allows Elections New Brunswick to hire students in grades 11 and 12 to work in the polling stations. Students who are 16 and 17 years old, and who would otherwise be eligible electors but for their age, are permitted to be employed at provincial elections as constables, voters list officers and poll revision officers.

More than 150 grade 11 and 12 students were hired province-wide to work at the polls during the election. Some worked the advance polls, while others worked on Election Day. Following the election, a short survey was sent to students who had provided their email address. They were asked about their experience working during the election and having a front row seat to the democratic process.

Of the 45 students who responded to the survey, 80% indicated that they would absolutely or very likely vote when they reach voting age because they experienced the voting process first-hand. Another 20% responded they would likely vote when they turn 18. No one indicated they would likely not vote.

It was also encouraging to read some of the comments submitted by students who were asked how their view of the electoral process changed after the experience of working as a polling official:

“I now feel empowered and more confident when casting my vote in future elections.”

“I have seen the importance of voting first-hand, and how it shapes our province and country.”

« Avant cette expérience, je n'avais aucune idée comment le processus électoral se déroulait mais après que j'ai été là-bas maintenant j'ai une vision plus claire et je comprends mieux le processus. »

Student Vote

Elections New Brunswick was pleased to partner with the democratic advocacy organization CIVIX and the Department of Education and Early Childhood Development to deliver the nationally recognized “Student Vote” program in New Brunswick schools during the election. The initiative was also supported with an in-kind donation from Rocket Printing, which printed the various resource manuals and posters used in the schools. A total of 237 schools registered for the program, up from 208 schools in 2018.

A record 35,371 votes were cast in the parallel election, with 205 schools reporting results on Election Night. Results from the student-held election were somewhat different from the results in the actual election. The Liberal Party of New Brunswick won the election but formed government with 28 seats; the Progressive Conservative Party of New Brunswick saw their number drop to 13 seats; and the N.B. Green Party fared better in the student election, winning eight seats.

Future Voters

Many electors bring their children with them when they go to vote. It’s often the first opportunity for these future electors to witness the voting process. To recognize the importance of this first step in learning about the democratic process, Elections New Brunswick decided to create a “future voter” sticker to be given to every young person who visited a polling station or returning office. By all accounts, these stickers were a BIG hit!

Problems With Access to Nursing Home Residents and Hospital Patients

Under the Elections Act, for the purpose of updating the list of electors, the administrators of treatment centres² are required to provide returning officers with information on their residents or patients, including their name and date of birth.

Some returning officers encountered roadblocks in this election when attempting to arrange voting opportunities for residents in certain long-term care facilities, as well as some hospitals. Patient privacy was cited by representatives at those treatment centres when they were asked to produce the name, sex, date of birth and address of patients under care at the facility, as required under subsection 20.6(3) of the Elections Act.

In one instance involving the returning officer in Moncton Centre, the health authority only provided the list of long-term care patients in the facility on the Friday before Election Day. The delay in responding to the returning officer's request, to which request the administrator of the facility was legally obligated to respond, resulted in significant logistical challenges in arranging voting opportunities for long-term care patients in that facility.

Senior Elections New Brunswick staff in Fredericton were required to intervene with administrators of these facilities on behalf of a number of returning officers.

Elections New Brunswick contacted facilities directly to reinforce that these administrators are legally required to comply with such requests from returning officers so that their patients or residents can be facilitated in exercising their democratic right to vote.

In the case of facilities that continued to resist returning officers' requests for the list of their residents or patients, Elections New Brunswick requested the New Brunswick Association of Nursing Homes Inc. and the Department of Health to assist it by reminding these facilities of their obligations under the Elections Act. Elections New Brunswick also advised the Department of Social Development of the challenges that it was experiencing. Elections New Brunswick requested, and received, written confirmation from New Brunswick's Ombud that custodians of personal health information are entitled to share with Elections New Brunswick the limited information required to facilitate voting by patients or residents of their facilities without seeking the consent of each individual.

Elections New Brunswick intends to request a meeting with both regional health authorities prior to the municipal general election in May 2026 to ensure they fully understand their obligations under the Elections Act and the Municipal Elections Act and that they inform staff in each of their health facilities of their responsibilities. Elections New Brunswick will also be working with the Departments of Health and Social Development on strategies to avoid similar incidents in the future.

²Under the Elections Act, a "treatment centre" is defined as "a nursing home, special care home, assisted living facility, psychiatric facility, extended care unit in a public hospital or any other residential facility operated for the purpose of the care and treatment of ten or more senior citizens or ten or more persons having a physical or mental disability;"

Accessibility

In the spring of 2023, Elections New Brunswick undertook a project to evaluate the accessibility of buildings that had been previously used as polling stations. A team of five returning officers were provided iPads equipped with an application that allowed them to evaluate and record multiple criteria for assessing the suitability of a building. This information assisted the 49 returning officers as they identified the polling stations that would be used during the election.

An accessibility issue did emerge during the election. In some areas, returning officers were unable to identify available spaces suitable to be used as polling stations to serve voters living in apartment buildings located in high-density residential areas. The distance to their assigned polling stations was raised as a particular issue by seniors and others with mobility challenges who lived in these complexes. Elections New Brunswick and its returning officers faced demands that alternative options be found to permit these individuals to vote at a location other than their assigned polling station. In some cases, these requests were unable to be accommodated due to a lack of available space in the apartment complexes or a lack of public access to the buildings.

In another case, residents of a high-density apartment complex were upset when they were assigned to a polling station across the street from their building. The residents of the building are all seniors, and a large percentage were reported to have mobility challenges. In the past, the residents of the apartment complex had been assigned to a polling station located in their building. To address the situation, the local returning officer was directed to set up an “additional poll” in their building for one day in the week before Election Day.

With more and more of New Brunswick’s urban seniors choosing to live independently in apartment complexes clustered together, Elections New Brunswick will have to address the challenge to find suitable options to make voting accessible to this important voting group within the resources available to each returning officer.

Following the election, Elections New Brunswick convened a meeting of its Consultation Committee on Election Accessibility to participate in a debriefing session. The group is comprised of members from various community organizations representing different segments of the population facing unique barriers to the voting process. They were asked to bring to the table feedback on any issues or concerns brought to their attention related to the election. A few issues related to the selection of polling station locations were identified by members of the committee, as was the need for greater emphasis during training on the appropriate ways for poll workers to assist electors with disabilities. The committee members also offered unanimous praise for the efforts made by Elections New Brunswick to educate and inform the public on the various tools and services provided to make voting inclusive for everyone.

Address Letter for Shelters, Soup Kitchens and Food Banks

One of the requirements for a person to have their name added to the list of electors is that they provide identification which shows proof of their current civic address. For individuals who are unhoused or living in a shelter, this can be a difficult hurdle to overcome. In the leadup to the election, the Communications and Outreach team at Elections New Brunswick developed a form that the administrator of a shelter, food bank, soup kitchen, or similar social service agency may use to vouch for an elector and provide the address of the facility as that person’s civic address. The form was shared in advance with agencies who provide services to clients who may experience this barrier to voting.

Support for New Canadian Voters

Elections New Brunswick was approached by the New Brunswick Multicultural Council with a request to support a project intended to promote voting in the election by new Canadian citizens living in the province. The group was provided with a $5,000 grant which was used to create a two-and-a-half-minute video featuring testimonials from new Canadians expressing their views on the importance of voting.

Concerns and Complaints

Language of Service Inquiries

During the election, Elections New Brunswick received notice from the Office of the Commissioner of Official Languages of three instances where an elector was not able to receive service in the language of their choice when they went to vote. One complaint came from a polling station in Fredericton, one in Penniac, and the third in Riverview. Upon receiving the information from the Office of the Commissioner of Official Languages, calls were made by Elections New Brunswick to the returning officers in charge of the electoral districts from which the complaints originated. The returning officers were directed to speak with the poll supervisors at each of the locations to make them aware that a language complaint had been made and to take the steps necessary to correct the issue.

Elections New Brunswick received formal notice of the complaints from the Commissioner of Official Languages on October 29, 2024. In its reply, Elections New Brunswick indicated its continued commitment to meet its obligations under the Official Languages Act. Elections New Brunswick also provided, at the Commissioner's request, the specific references made in the training materials used by Elections New Brunswick to the importance of providing electors with service in the official language of their choice.

In a letter received in December 2024 closing the file on the complaints, the Commissioner indicated that she was satisfied with the actions taken by Elections New Brunswick to comply with its obligations under the Official Languages Act.

Search Engine Capacity

Electors who do not receive a voter information card for an election can use a search engine on the Elections New Brunswick website to look up their voting locations. In anticipation of increased traffic to the website during the election, and especially in the days around the advance and ordinary voting days, Elections New Brunswick took proactive steps to have Service New Brunswick (SNB) increase the CPU capacity on its server.

On Election Day, when well over 200,000 New Brunswickers voted, the search engine was bombarded with traffic from people looking for their polling information. The system could not keep up with the volume of requests and slowed to a grind. Service New Brunswick added more capacity to the server, but this did not resolve the problem. The decision was made to redirect all traffic to a previous version of the search engine, which required users to input their address information in three separate fields before starting their search. This was less taxing on the server and resolved the issue.

Other Complaints

During recent elections, Elections New Brunswick has seen an increase in the number of voters complaining about receiving unsolicited contact from political parties and candidates. Most voters are not aware of the obligation under the Elections Act for Elections New Brunswick to annually provide the list of registered electors to the registered political parties, and to provide lists of electors to candidates during an election. Some New Brunswickers expressed the view that it is an invasion of their privacy for the political parties to know their address and whether they had voted.

Another concern raised frequently during this election was that electors who are already registered with Elections New Brunswick are not required to show identification when they present themselves to vote. Some New Brunswickers expressed concern that this could lead to voter fraud such as allowing a person who receives the voter information card of a previous tenant of their residence to vote using that person's card. Again, this is the long-standing voting process legislated under the Elections Act. Those who contacted Elections New Brunswick with this concern were assured that anyone who did so would be committing a serious offence under the Elections Act, known as a corrupt practice, and would be subject to serious penalties on conviction, including being prohibited from voting or running as a candidate for five years.³

Complaint to Police

Elections New Brunswick referred one matter to the RCMP in relation to an incident that occurred on Election Day at a polling station in the riding of Kent North. Following a police investigation, the matter did not result in a charge being laid.

Visitor Program

During the election, Elections New Brunswick hosted a visitors' program that provided the opportunity for election officials from across Canada to observe the activities related to the administration and conduct of the election. Elections New Brunswick was pleased to welcome representatives from eight Canadian electoral management bodies. Along with visits to polling stations on Election Day and to two returning offices, the group participated in a technical briefing at which Elections New Brunswick staff provided detailed presentations on the processes and programs used in the election.

The feedback from the participants in the visitors' program was overwhelmingly positive. The content of the program was well received, and the Maritime hospitality was greatly appreciated. Elections New Brunswick was also praised for the efficiency and innovativeness of its electoral processes and for the professionalism and competence of its staff. All participants left with lessons learned and new ideas to share with their colleagues in their home jurisdictions.

Results Reporting

Tabulation machines were used again in this election to count ballots. Six hundred and ninety-four tabulation machines were deployed to ordinary and advance polling stations, 50 returning offices and nine campus additional polls.

As in previous elections, cellular modems were used to transmit results directly from the tabulation machines after the close of polls on election night. Of the 694 tabulation machines, 96.5% successfully transmitted results using the cellular modems. In the remaining cases, the process followed is that the poll supervisor calls in the results to the returning office and reads off the information from the results tape that was printed at the close of polls. This information is then manually inputted by staff at the returning office and then published. Once the tabulation machines are returned to the returning office, the digital files are then uploaded using software in the returning offices to replace the manual entries. No differences were noted.

The first group of results - from 17 tabulation machines - were uploaded and exported to the public website at 8:04 p.m. Successive batches of results continued to be published and 84% of results were published by 8:35 p.m. The final tabulation machine's results were manually entered and published at 10:22 p.m. After driving the last tabulation machine back to the returning office from a rural polling station, the final electronic file was retrieved at 11:51 p.m.

Following Election Day, normal audit and verification procedures occurred in accordance with the Chief Electoral Officer Directives for the Counting of Ballots. On Tuesday, October 22, 29 ballots from seven electoral districts were found not to have been tabulated on election night, the majority being write-in ballots where the elector wrote the name of a candidate not running in their electoral district. Cast ballots and valid votes were manually added to the overall results. None of these ballots affected the outcomes reported on election night.

Later that day, to confirm that results data was uploaded correctly, returning officers verified that the votes each candidate received as printed on the tabulation machines' results tapes matched the votes indicated on certification reports derived from the results database.

Following this, returning officers then conducted a manual audit verification of all the ballots cast through one tabulation machine from their respective electoral districts. In the presence of political party scrutineers, each paper ballot cast in that polling station was manually counted and compared to the results reported by the tabulation machine. Only one of the 49 audits conducted across New Brunswick saw a change, and this was because the returning officer in Oromocto-Sunbury identified a polling station where, on an advance polling day, it was reported that one ballot was likely mistakenly double counted during the clearing of a paper jam. Once investigated, it was confirmed that this was the case, and one vote was removed from the Liberal candidate's election night tally.

Returning officers officially declared the elected candidates in their respective electoral districts on Friday, October 25, as required under the Elections Act. No requests for recounts were made to a court prior to the recount application deadline of Tuesday, October 29. Accordingly, the writs of election were returned to Elections New Brunswick by Friday, November 1.

Post-Election Debriefing Sessions

Returning officers and election clerks were asked to keep notes capturing feedback on issues they encountered during the election and recommended solutions for Elections New Brunswick to consider. In the end, hundreds of ideas were received covering a wide range of election procedures and processes they recommended be reviewed.

In January 2025, all returning officers and election clerks were invited to participate in a formal debriefing session in Fredericton. The session was organized as small-group brainstorming sessions in which breakout groups worked through possible solutions for identified challenges and then proposed other process changes. The event also included an awards and service recognition dinner. Four returning officers were recognized for their years of service with Elections New Brunswick, and awards were presented to returning office staff for standout performances during the election.

Election Expenses

Breaking down the expenses incurred for the administration of this election is complicated. Some expenses were incurred twice due to the rumours which surfaced in 2023 of a possible early election call. As the uncertainty persisted regarding whether a snap election would be called, returning officers were hired and trained, and returning offices and polling stations were rented over a period of several months in 2023. Approximately $1.2 million of the expenses incurred in 2023 were incurred again in 2024 for the October election.

The chart below details expenditures incurred as a result of election speculation in 2023 that were re-incurred when the election was held in October 2024:

Pre-election expenditures - 2023
Returning offices - leases, cleaning, garbage removal	$ 436,947
Returning offices - furniture rental	105,514
Polling station rentals	609,370
Other - general election costs	46,012
Total	$ 1,197,843

Due to the 2023 election speculation, Elections New Brunswick also incurred expenses earlier than had been anticipated. Such expenses included training returning officers and election clerks, printing training manuals, and hiring additional warehouse staff to assist with preparing and packing supplies. Those expenses are included in the following chart, which provides details on the direct costs of conducting this election.

Elections New Brunswick also incurs expenditures for infrastructure-related costs for technology required for the administration of all elections it administers, both provincial and municipal general elections and by-elections. Such expenditures include the cost of tabulation machines, laptops and iPads. These expenditures are ongoing costs not attributable to the cost of a single event and are reported in Elections New Brunswick’s annual report.

Looking Forward - Emerging Threats to Democracy

There are growing concerns nationally and internationally regarding the increased risk of foreign interference in elections and the use of generative AI to manipulate and influence people's voting intentions through coordinated misinformation and disinformation campaigns. Elections New Brunswick did not detect or observe any targeted attacks directed at this election, nor was it advised of any such threats; however, like other election management bodies across the country, Elections New Brunswick believes legislators must act to address these threats before real and long-lasting harm is done to the integrity of New Brunswick's electoral processes and the public's trust in its democratic institutions begins to erode.

Elections New Brunswick has attempted to modernize the legislation governing elections in the Province many times over the years. It has identified deficiencies and made recommendations for changes to bring statutes written in the 1960s and 1970s forward to the 2020s to respond to the realities of running an election in today's digitally-interconnected environment. The pace of change has only increased in recent years, such that the recommendations made even six years ago do not address today's most pressing concerns.

Ultimately, while the Chief Electoral Officer may identify emerging issues and make recommendations so that legislation remains current and viable, it is not solely the responsibility of Elections New Brunswick to do so. This is a shared responsibility in which all elected members of the Legislative Assembly must take steps to safeguard the democratic institutions that we hold sacred in our country and Province. While it takes effort, regular and ongoing attention must be focused on keeping the laws that govern elections current, otherwise the unthinkable may occur, and our democracy falters because of attack or apathy.

As noted by the Chief Electoral Officer in her comments at the beginning of this report, Benjamin Franklin's words were a strong lesson for the future. Over 230 years later, his words continue to ring true and resonate today as sung by Taylor Swift in her song, "Mastermind":

"If you fail to plan, you plan to fail."

- Taylor Swift

Acknowledgements

Elections New Brunswick has a staff of 19 full-time employees. The administration of a province-wide election requires a significantly larger complement of temporary staff, both at head office in Fredericton and in the returning offices and polling stations across the province.

Elections New Brunswick's Information Technology and Security Section and its warehouse required additional staff to quickly prepare for the possible early election call in 2023, and again in 2024 to prepare for the deployment of material, supplies and information technology to returning offices for the election.

Elections New Brunswick's ability to respond to inquiries from the public and from candidates and their campaign teams was supported by a professional team of bilingual staff. Eleven individuals staffed its call centre six-days a week before, during and after the election, and were managed by Elections New Brunswick's Operations Officer.

Elections New Brunswick has far too many vendors to thank individually, but their collective ability to respond to its needs promptly and effectively in preparing for and delivering this election is gratefully appreciated.

Elections New Brunswick's ability to deliver a successful election is also owed to the hundreds of thousands of electors who voted by going to their local polling station, visiting a returning office, attending an additional poll, or requesting a mail-in ballot. A strong democracy is only possible with the active participation of its citizens.

* Insufficient information at the time of compilation to assign correct age information. Nevertheless, all voters met the qualifications to vote when added to the list at the polling station.

 After the close of advance and ordinary polls, data entry officers in each Returning Office are tasked with electronically updating the Register of Electors and recording each elector who cast a ballot in the election based upon paperwork returned from the polls. In some cases, information on forms is missing, or data entry errors occur which may affect the percentages noted above.

Results by Tabulation Machine and Polling Station by Electoral District & Results by Polling Division by Electoral District

The “Undetermined” polling division reports vote results where the tabulation machine could not assign a ballot to a particular polling division, because the poll information filled out by the Ballot Issuing Officer was incomplete or incorrect (nevertheless the actual votes per candidate were read).
